MILITARY WEEK SET FOR OCTOBER

Thousands of Soldiers From All | Many Small Guests of the Expo-Parts of the Country Will Visit the Fair.

Lieutenant Haight Making Arrangements to Accommodate Regular, Militia and Cadet Organizations.

Military Week at the World's Fair will be held in October, the exact dates to be set later. Lieutenant C. Sidney Haight, Military Aid to President Francis, already has many applications from many regular rmy organizations for accommodations. The Exposition management hopes to have ral troops of cavalry and batteries of light and heavy artillery.

The present month will witness the arrival of troops from the National Guard regiments and military academies. Today a battalion of cadets is expected to arrive from the Providence Military Academy of Allegheny, Pa.

Other organizations for which accommo dations in camp have been arranged are a battalion of the Sixth Illinois, National Guard, due to arrive August 6; the Spalding Grays, Griffin, Ga., seventy-five men trong, due August 7; Norfolk (Va.) Light Artillery, seventy-five men. August 15; Fifth Ohio Regiment, National Guard, Cleveland, August 12; Company H of Am sterdam, N. Y., August 27; Governor's Rifies, Nashville, Tenn., August 27; battalion of the Fifth Illinois, National Guard Au of the Fifth Illinois, National Guard August 27; Tenth Battalion, New York National Guard, of Albany, August 29.

The Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, from the Ohlo Division, is expected to arrive from Louisville August 29. There will be sixteer teams, all of whom will drill for prizes offered by the Exposition. Two thousand Knights of the Maccabees also will encamp at the Fair this month.

Some of the crack military organizations that will encamp at the Fair this month are the First Battery of Light Arillery from Massachusetts, August 27; Philadelphia City Troop, August 18; Lawrence Offass.) Light Battery and the Culver Naval Cadets, Adgust 12. The letter will remain at the Fair until August 29. There will be 120 cadets and they will give daily dirills on the lagoons, varying them with occasional naval maneuvers and sham batties. It is the only may academy besides the Annapolis Academy that the Government has equipped with cutters. The school will bring four of these cutters to the Fair and will have races on the lagoons during their encampment.

CANDY SALESMEN MEET FOR TENTH CONVENTION.

Will Hold Joint Sessions With the side Inn To-Day.

The tenth annual convention of the National Jobbing Confectioners' Association will begin this morning at 10 o'clock in Convention Hall at the World's Fair unds. President Francis will deliver an address of welcome and George H. Fritz, former president of the association, this morning by C. J. Lapping of St. Louis and E. G. Staley of Baltimore, president of the association. Then the formal business session will open, and the officers and committee will make their annual reports.

After the first meeting at Convention Hall, the sessions of the confectioners will be held jointly with the National Confectioners Salesmen's Association at Inside Inn, for three successive days, including to-day.

tation will be held at the Exposition October 4, 5 and 6. This plan is being October 4, b and 6. This plan is being formulated by W. D. Thomas, editor of the Fulton Sun, president of the association, who, with W. N. Southern, Jr., vice president, visited the Missouri building to-day and conferred with Walter Williams, Chief of the Bureau of Publicity of the Missouri

Of the Bureau of Publicity of the Missouri Commission.

The Executive Committee of the association will meet in the Missouri building August 26, at which time the detailed arrangements of the convention will be made. The association will bring more than 1,000 persons to the Exposition, and it is planned that not only regular business will be transacted, but that a systematic review of the Exposition will be made.

A novel idea has been suggested for the week. Heads of the departments and others will outline plans of how best to see the Exposition. Only morning sessions will be held, and it is the plan to make the convention one of great educational value.

MANY APPLICATIONS RECEIVED | MODEL PLAYGROUNDS CROWD.

Anxious Mothers Spend Hours Searching for Wanderers-All Possible Privileges Given to the Visitors.

Children's Day at the World's Fair brought, it is estimated, forty thousand of these small sightseers to the Exposition grounds yesterday.

From early morning until considerable after the midnight hour, every street car and vehicle to the World's Fair was packed to standing room only with happy children in hollday attire.

With the majority of the children, who were accompanied by adults, nothing oc-But sixty-five children who were guests of the Fair yesterday suffered the experience of getting lost in the big crowds that filled the Exposition grounds.

Until 1 o'clock this morning the Model Playgrounds, where the lost children were cared for, was a scene of considerable ac-

While tiny tots, tired from the day's excitement, could be heard from all corners of the playgrounds crying for their lost parents, anxious ones paced the gravel paths from shear nervousness and watched closely every child brought into the gate in the hopes that the next child might MANY ANXIOUS MOTHERS.

Mrs. Laura Kogeler, of No. 2801 St. Louis avenue, was one of the latter number. Up to midnight Mrs. Kogeler was still looking for her 8-year-old son, who had been brushed aside by the big crowds during the afternoon's parade and disappeared. Little Ruth Kuepper of No. 2720 Adams street was the last of the lost delegation to be returned to her parents last evening. After telephoning to the Emergency Hospital, the lefferson Guard neadquarters, the police station, little Ruth was located at the Model Play rounds, and the father who was nearly distracted by his temporary loss, hurried to the playgrounds about midnight to claim his daughter.

Among those who were lost and returned to their parents were Johnnie Booth of No. 5735 Delmar avenue, Ada Letson of No. 5735 Delmar avenue, Herbert Medley of No. 6141 Plymouth avenue, Edwin Burke of No. 5220 Dayton street, Max Baker of No. 6571 Riuge avenue. Among the children of various organizations who enjoyed a part of the day at the Model Playgrounds, were the Dumas playgrounds chadren, in charge of A. J. Gossin; the Rutger Civic Improvement League, thirty children from the Ashley playgrounds, and the same number from the Fowler playgrounds. Jules Bouevfre of the French Commission brought a party of children from one of the local charitable institutions to spend the day at the playgrounds. porary loss, hurried to the playgrounds GUESTS ARRIVE EARLY. The tiny guests began to arrive at the grounds as soon as the gates were opened, and all day up to 3 o'clock, when the parade took place, a steady stream of chidren, gay in their holid y ature, I seed through the turnstiles.

Everybody on the Exposition grounds turned host to the small visitors. Not only were the children admitted free of charge to the grounds, but many of the shows opened their doors to the children.

Children virtually ruled at the Fair yesterday, All "Don't" signs at the Fair were removed for the day and the children enjoyed every privilege that the Exposition management could extend.

A tiny visitor who was doing the Philippine exhibit yesterday inquired of the guard if she might slide down the bamboo balustrades on the outside steps leading to one of the office buildings. "Yes," replied the guard, prompily, "you may slide down the bainstrades. This is children's day."

This was characteristic of the reception that was accorded the children all over the Exposition grounds. grounds as soon as the gates were opened.

OF MANY NATIONS. The feature of the day was the chil-dren's parade. The procession was made up of children of all nations, dressed in up of children of all nations, dressed in their most attractive costumes. The parade formed at the Model Playgrounds. The procession was made up of a detachment of mounted police, a detail of Jefferson Guards, the World's Fair Indian Band, little Japanese children in Jinrikishas, children of the Boer War exhibit on ponies, little Hindoos on camels and liamas, smail children from the Turkish and Jewish quarters on the pike seated on camels and donkeys, little Irish men and women in a jaunting car, and the Indian children on ponies.

The Filipino children were represented by a party of Negritos and Igorrotes filing two automobiles.

Bringing up the rear of the parade rode Mrs. Ruth Ashley Hirschfield of the Model Playgrounds and Traffic Manager Hileary, who arranged the day's programme. After the parade a children's concert was given in Festival Hall, which was largely attended. The programme was entirely of children's songs.

KAPPA SIGMA FRATERNITY MEETS AT FAIR TO-DAY.

Biennial Conclave-Francia to

The national biennial conclave of the Kuppa Sigma Fraternity will open to-day at 11 a. m. in the Hail of Congresses at the Fair. Already more than 500 members have arrived, and as many as 1.200 are expected. Addresses will be made by President Francis, Secretary Walter B. Stevens and Frederick J. V. Skiff, Director ternity. Headquarters will be at the Inside Inn. The members will meet there at 19 o'clock this morning and march in a body to the Hall of Congresses.

To-morrow evening a smoker will be held at Old St. Louis on the Pike, and it held at Old St. Louis on the Pike, and it is expected that more than 1,000 will be present. Some evening of the week will be devoted to a dance in the Missouri building. Friday evening a banquet will be held at the House of Hoo-Hoo.

Kappa Sigma has a larger active membership than any other Greek letter society in the country, having seventy-one chapters in the colleges and universities, three being in Missouri institutions—Washington and Missouri universities and William Jewell College. It was founded at the University of Virginia in 1869. Doctor Samuel I. North of Las Vegas, N. M., one of the first three members admitted, is attending the convention.

The party included Elvin Colhert, Fred Taylor and Goldle Schoolcraft of Hagerstown, Julian Ray of Vandalia, Cayce Mortison of Ramsey and Roy Mahon of St. Peter, Elvin Colhert received the highest average in the contest, which was participated in by over 400 pupils, and was awarded the first prize, consisting of a four days visit at the Fair, with free transportation, admission and entertainment. The remaining five will receive the same privileges, with the exception of the from admission. The party was photographed in the court of the Administration building yesterday morning.

Column after column of matter is appearing daily in the Wisconsin newspapers in praise of the Exposition, and some good work is being done in the way of advertising the Fair. The Milwaukee Free Press published a column story on Sunday last, giving the views of prominent visitors to the Fair, the facts deducted by the Sentinel being that the World's Fair is libeled and that prices are not exorbitant and the weather is acceptable here. Max Krumm of Remscheid, Germany, who has visited every international exposition during the last forty years, states that the expenses are reasonable compared with the prices charged at Paris, Vienna and other expositions, and that the weather was all that could be desired. "The reports that the people of St. Louis are trying to rob the poople who attend the Exposition are faise in every particular," said A. C. In the University of Virginia exhibit, in the Virginia building, is a facsimile photograph of a document which, aside from the celebrated historic papers, is one of the most valuable documents in this country. The document in question is a page from the minutes of the Board of Visitors of the University of Virginia, and is a simple resolution by that body; but it has the unique distinction of being signed by Jefferson. Madison and Monroe, all of them Presidents of the United States. These distinguished men were at the same time members of the governing body of the University of Virginia, that university being the only one in this country having the distinction of having three Presidents on its governing board at the same time.

As the Virginia building is not entirely fireproof, and because of the danger of theft, the university faculty would not allow the original to be brought out, but only the facsimile.

Louisiana Day at the World's Fair-September 12-will probably be participated in by the descendants of those who were residents of St. Louis at the time the transfer was effected.

In a letter to the Louisiana Commission, Lily Coale Kinealy of No. 4997 Labadie avenue states that at a recent meeting of some of the descendants of the first settlers of St. Louis, the subject of the coming celebration of Louisiana Day was discussed, and all present volced their enthusiasm in the project, and expressed a desire to take part, or at least be present at the celebration.

Among the descendants of those who proudly watched and approved the waving of Old Glory where had waved the Spanish and French banners, who expressed a desire to be present at the exercises, are: Mrs. Celeste Pim of No. 503 Washington avenue, whose ancestor, De Lassus, was Governor at the time of the transfer; Mrs. Laura Brazeau and daughters of No. 393 Labadie avenue; Mrs. Ella Bosseron Chambers and family of No. 555 North Spring avenue; Mrs. Harriet Papin and family of Webster Groves, Mo.; Mrs. Rita Williamson and family of No. 481 Hammett place; Mrs. Victoria Duchouquette Whyte and family of No. 497 Labadie avenue; Mrs. Conde Benoist and Mrs. Christy of Lennox place.

Colonel John J. Schuler of the Louisiana Commission will give the matter his attention, and it is quite likely that the representation of these descendants will be a feature of the Louisiana Day celebration.

DR. WATERS STARTS TO-DAY

the Board of Curators of the Agricultural College, in order that he might go abroad and study the methods in vogue in the Old World, and thus be better prepared to carry on his work at the State institution. Doctor Waters was ready to depart, but he was the unanimous choice of the members of the Missouri Commission to take charge of the State agricultural exhibit, and was finally prevalled upon to abandon his trip, though this action was not taken without much reluctance.

Doctor Waters gave all of his energies toward preparing Missouri's exhibit in the Paiace of Agriculture, and the result of his work can be seen in the splendid showing the State has made. The Board of Curators of the college renewed their offer to grant Doctor Waters a twelve months' leave of absence, and having completed his labors for the Missouri Commission, he tendered his resignation, which will probably be accepted at the meeting of the commission to-day.

Commissioner J. H. Hawthorne, who is also a member of the Board of Curators of the college, and who was largely instrumental in having Doctor Waters engage his services with the commission, speaks in the highest terms of them.

Doctor Waters was entertained at an informal luncheon in the Missouri section of the Palace of Agriculture at 5 c'clock yesterday afternoon. He was presented with a handsome steamer rug.

MUSIC TITLE CAUSES COMMENT.

"Weat Door, H. H." Admired for its Merit as Well as Name.

Captain Lem H. Wiley is a composer as well as a band lender of national reputation. Quite recently there has made its appearance on the official programmes of music given by World's Fair bands the title "West Door, H. R."

Considerable curiosity has been aroused by the title, and it has increased as the place has been heard and admired by World's Fair visitors. Captain Wiley, during the sessions of Congress, was stationed with the doorkeeper of the House of Representatives. He had charge of the west door. He wrote this music at the time when the Phillippine question was under the half-drowned guards and reproached him for his conduct.

der debate in the House of Representatives.

It is an interesting fact that the first band on the World's Fair grounds to take up and play "West Door, H. R." was the Philippine Constabulary Band. Doctor Loving has been trying it for several days. The piece has proven very popular and has elicited much comment. It is a military march, and may become of semiofficial character with the Philippine people by reason of the dreumstances under which it was written and by reason of the popularity it has attained.

The Filipinos take to it as a composition specially suitable to their tastes. "West Door, H. R." was first played in manuscript by the Marine Band at Washington. It was then taken up by Sousa and has been heard at the World's Fair repeatedly during the past week.

VASES WORTH WEIGHT IN GOLD.

nish Enamel for Chinese Pottery. In the Chinese section in the Palace of Liberal Arts there are three vases of Chinese pottery which are literally worth their weight in gold. These vases are over 1,000 years old and are perfect specimens of the Chinese cloisonne ware of that period. The smallest is only 8 inches in height and is valued at $5,000. The second is 18 inches in height and is valued at $8,000, while the third is 12 inches high and is valued at $10,000.

Government and owe their enormous value to two causes, their extreme antiquity, and the way in which they obtain their rare coloring. Preclous germs—ruble, garnets, diamonds and other valuable stones—are ground to a fine powder and the powder is used in making the coloring matter with which the vases are enameled.

DR. WATERS STARTS TO-DAY FOR YEAR'S TRIP TO EUROPE.

Completes His Labors With Missouri Agricultural Exhibit and Secures Leave of Absence.

Dector H. J. Waters, dean of the State Agricultural college at Columbia, Mo., who has been in charge of the Missouri agricultural exhibit, severed his connection with the Missouri Commission, and, accompanied by Mrs. Waters, departs to-day for New York, thence to Europe for a year's trip on the Continent.

More than a year ago Doctor Waters was granted a year's leave of absence by the Board of Curators of the Agricultural College, in order that he might go abroad and study the methods in vogue in the Old World, and thus be better prepared to world has by personal observation and study.

Probably the most striking thing in connection with this visit is the fact that the National Cash Register factory has closed down for two solid weeks, in order to allow the employes to make this trip. Not a wheel will be turned in the great plant until August 15, when everyone is expected back at his post of duty, ready to give better service than in the past.

STATESMAN OF BELGIUM COMING. Secretary Francoice Will Attend for King Leopold.

Russell Stanhope has received notice from M. Jules Carlier, Commissioner General from Belgium, that M. Fruncotes, Secretary of State and Foreign Affairs for Belgium, will arrive in St. Louis early in September. Mr. Francotes will be the first Cabinet Minister of a foreign Government to attend the Exposition.

He comes by the special wish of King Leopoid, who is unable to attend himself. The Crown Prince of Belgium, who had arranged to visit the Exposition in September, has had to give up the idea, much to his regret, owing to the severe illness of his father, his Royal Highness, the Count of Flanders.

EXHIBIT BY ROYAL ARTISTS. King and Queen of Portugal Have

On each side of the painting are smaller ones executed by her Majesty, Amella, the Queen of Portugal. One represents an
